ABOUT MARTA

Marta M. Miranda-Straub is an engaging, passionate and impactful public speaker with over 40 years of experience in multiple roles in the academic, non-profit and for profit arena. She is an established consultant, executive leader, community organizer, trainer, coach, published author, storyteller and poet with a deep commitment to equity, inclusion and social justice.

Marta is a seasoned leader living and working in the intersection of gender, race and sexualities. For Marta the personal is political and she shares her personal and professional experiences with humor and authenticity.

“During our Annual Leadership Summit, Marta engaged LGBTI community center leaders from across the country on board development and leadership succession planning in a way that captured their attention, made them laugh and expanded their learning. Marta is a force of nature that will leave your conference participants with an everlasting positive impression.”

- Lora Tucker, CEO Centerlink, Ft. Lauderdale, FL
